 MOVING FORWARD

The Old Man
 Get Dad the holiday swag that'll help him forget you're his son.

Mommy Dearest | The Old Man | Ball and Chain | Snot-Faced Twerps | Your Little Brother | Boss and Coworkers | Uncle Walter

Barrel of Fun $1,520

Canon's EOS 20D 8.2-megapixel SLR camera creates the crispest, sharpest, most cutting-edge images out there—it'll eat your dad's old digital point-and-shoot and spit out its teeth. Optional lenses will give him as much control as the best pro old-school cameras, so he can stop that "back in my day" bullshit. (canon.com)
 Buy at eCOST.com

Power Games $419

It's the Swiss Army knife of power tools, encased in one fearsome workbench: table saw, router, drill press, flatbed sander, scroll saw, even a table to shred stuff. Skil's X-Shop is everything your tool-obsessed dad needs. (skil.com)

Ship of Tools $460

This limited-edition 34-piece Ferrari tool set is the ultimate autophile fantasy: fancy pliers, wrenches, and sockets galore. (facom.com)
 Buy at Costco.com

Sound, No Fury $399

Thundering 5.1 surround sound in a box, affordable and ready to go, the Pioneer HTD-540DV will keep the old man in the basement, enjoying modern hi-fi. (pioneerelectronics.com)
 Buy at Amazon.com

Perfect Combo

Japan's legendary gourmet beef is massaged in sake. ($50, uptownprime.com)

This upscale 27-year-old scotch is a damn Xmas miracle. ($240, dewars.com)
Buy at Beerliquors.com

Checked Mate $100

When carting Pops back to the retirement home, make his ride less depressing by hooking him up with this portable Maestro Travel Chess Computer. Packaged in a PDA-style case, it offers over 100 playing levels—easily operated using the stylus pen—and a blue black-lit screen that will offset premature blindness. (saitekusa.com)
